

THE GREYSWOOD PRACTICE

The information we hold about you

On 25th May 2018, the General Data Protection Regulation (known as GDPR) comes into law. These changes to the data protection laws don't alter what we use your personal information for. They will make it easier for you to find out how we use and protect your information.

The fact that the law is changing only builds on what we already do now. It is to give your personal information the respect and security it deserves.

Your personal information is an important part of our service. For instance, it lets us provide you with the right health care, including sharing your health information with other health providers such as hospitals.

You do not need to do anything or take any action. If you would like to find out more, please take a look at our updated privacy policy on our practice website or ask for a copy at reception.

If you have any questions, please ask to speak with Bram Paton, Interim Practice manager and Data Protection Officer. 0208 769 0845
